SCHEDULE A

Ontario College of Pharmacists Code of Ethics

Role and Purpose of the Code of Ethics

One of the objects of the Ontario College of Pharmacists (OCP, the College), as outlined in the Regulated Health Professions Act, Schedule 2, Health Professions Procedural Code is to “develop, establish and maintain standards of professional ethics for members” of the profession.

The role and purpose of OCP’s Code of Ethics is to clearly articulate the ethical principles and standards which guide the practice of pharmacists and pharmacy technicians in fulfilling the College’s mandate to serve and protect the public by putting patients first.

Specifically, OCP’s Code of Ethics supports the College in fulfilling its mandate by:

- Clearly articulating the ethical principles and standards by which pharmacists and pharmacy technicians are guided and under which they are accountable
- Serving as a resource for education, self-evaluation and peer review
- Serving as an educational resource for the public outlining the ethical obligations of the profession
- Providing a benchmark for monitoring and addressing the conduct of pharmacists and pharmacy technicians

Who does the Code of Ethics Apply to?

The Code of Ethics applies to all registrants of the College, in accordance with their scope of practice, including registered pharmacists, interns, intern technicians, pharmacy technicians, pharmacists (emergency assignment) and pharmacy technicians (emergency assignment). The Code of Ethics is also relevant to all those who aspire to be registrants of the College.

The Code of Ethics is applicable in all professional practice, education and research environments including non-traditional practice settings which may not involve a healthcare professional/patient relationship.

All registrants are responsible for applying the Code of Ethics requirements in the context of their own specific professional working environments.

Compliance with the Code of Ethics

The Standards listed in OCP’s Code of Ethics are not intended to provide an exhaustive or definitive list of ethical behaviours and attitudes required of registrants. Registrants do not justify unethical behaviour by rationalizing that such behaviour is not expressly prohibited in a Standard of this Code.

The College holds registrants accountable for adhering to the Code of Ethics and will inquire into allegations of a breach of the Code of Ethics and take appropriate action(s) in relation to the severity of the breach.

The Code of Ethics, Standards of Practice and all relevant legislation, policies and guidelines are companion documents and none of these should be read or applied in isolation of the other(s). It is not unusual for there to be duplication within these documents as requirements may be both ethical and legal.

All registrants of the College are required to affirm their understanding of and commitment to OCP's Code of Ethics by signing the Declaration of Commitment.

Understanding the Professional Role and Commitment of Healthcare Professionals

The most important feature or characteristic that distinguishes a healthcare professional from another type of professional is that: healthcare professionals are committed, first and foremost, to the direct benefit of their patients and only secondarily to making a profit. Pharmacists and pharmacy technicians are healthcare professionals.

What does being a healthcare professional require of pharmacists and pharmacy technicians?

In choosing to become a pharmacist or pharmacy technician we acknowledge our understanding and commitment to the professional role, recognizing it is not about us – our own personal or business interests – it is about the patient.

We appreciate that our patients are vulnerable and may often be limited by personal and circumstantial factors which enhance and reinforce this vulnerability and that inherent within the healthcare professional/patient relationship there is an imbalance of power with the healthcare professional holding that power.

Patients trust that as healthcare professionals we will respect and protect their vulnerability and maintain professional boundaries within the healthcare professional/patient relationship as we use our knowledge, skills and abilities to make decisions that enhance their health and well-being.

Where does this obligation come from?

When we become a regulated healthcare professional we implicitly enter into what is commonly referred to as a “social contract with society”.

This contract requires that we keep our promise to act in the best interest of our patients and place their well-being first and foremost. It requires that we recognize and remember that we have not simply chosen a profession but also a vocation, committing ourselves to help and benefit those entrusted to our care in a spirit of altruism, goodwill, sincerity and integrity.

In exchange for our promise society agrees to provide our profession with the autonomy to govern ourselves as a self-regulating profession with all the privileges and statuses afforded regulated healthcare professionals.

Ethical Principles that Govern Healthcare Practice

In fulfilling our professional promise to our patients and to society, healthcare professionals are guided by the following ethical principles of healthcare:

Beneficence (to benefit):

The first foundational principle that forms and guides our commitment to serve and protect the best interests of our patients establishes the fact that our primary role and function as healthcare professionals is to benefit our patients. We need to remember that our patients seek our care and services because they believe and trust that we will apply our knowledge, skills and abilities to help make them better.

Non maleficence (do no harm, and prevent harm from occurring):

The second foundational principle that guides our commitment to serve and protect the best interests of our patients addresses the reality that as we strive to benefit our patients we must be diligent in our efforts to do no harm and, whenever possible, prevent harm from occurring.

Respect for Persons/Justice:

The third foundational principle merges the principles of “Respect for Persons” and “Justice” which collectively guide our understanding of how we ought to treat our patients. Respect for persons acknowledges that all persons, as a result of their intrinsic humanity, are worthy of our respect, compassion and consideration. We demonstrate this when we respect our patients’ vulnerability, autonomy and right to be self-governing decision-makers in their own healthcare. The principle of “Justice” requires that we fulfill our ethical obligation to treat all patients fairly and equitably.

Accountability (Fidelity):

The fourth and final foundational principle directly ties us to our professional promise to be responsible fiduciaries of the public trust ensuring that we keep our promise to our patients and society to always and invariably act in their best interests and not our own. It is this principle that holds us accountable, not just for our own actions and behaviours, but for those of our colleagues as well.

Code of Ethics and Standards of Application

The Ontario College of Pharmacists Code of Ethics is founded on the core ethical principles of healthcare: beneficence, non-maleficence, respect for persons/justice and accountability (fidelity). Code requirements are articulated in the form of guiding ethical principles, general statements of application and standards that specify the behaviours and attitudes that are required of all registrants of the College as regulated healthcare professionals.
